説明

OpenDocument is the native format of an increasing number of "Office" tools. It is sufficiently clean and properly designed to be suitable for automatic template-based generation. A project named Documatic, at <http://stonecode.svnrepository.com/documatic/trac.cgi/wiki> , has started some work on the area. Currently, it supports Text and Spreadsheet OD types.

Therefore, Redmine could probably add OpenDocument to its - already fairly complete - list of view formats.

+1

This would be a great feature to have.

+1

is this already implemented? If not it should, because libreoffice, openoffice and microsoft office are supporting open docuement file format!
