It would be nice to add an option on the TOC directive that would place the table of content onto the right sidebar.
Another option would be to use a CSS's fixed positioning.

When the page summary grows, the wiki page gets bloated by the summary.

Would like to see this as well. Would be willing to work up a patch if somebody is willing to slip it in.

Are we able to do this now somehow? I'd like the table of content like the 'index by title' to be in the sidebar.
