The Gravatar feature is working great for me but it took asking on irc to realize I had to go to gravatar.com to change my icon. It would be cool to have the users Gravatar on their "My account" page and have a link under it to "edit icon" that would take you to gravatar.com

This feature removes my task to explain to my colleagues that it is necessary to register in gravatar.com so that the gravator icons are displayed.

I think this is more of a UI thing. Can we get this in for version:0.9.5?

Here is the patch.

Try it.

Pushing this to 1.0, I don't consider it a must have for 0.9.5.

I'll review this for a later version, trying to keep new features out of 1.0 right now.

I am stepping down from working on Redmine. If someone else is interesting in working on this issue, feel free to reassign it to them.

This simple patch worked for me on 1.1. Can we get it included in trunk?

Updated patch against 2.6.5

Here is a new patch against trunk (r14294).

Removed hard coded strings.

Feature added in r14377. A helper method was added to to make it easy for plugins to change this behaviour (eg. custom avatar store).
