For the moment projects displayed in users' profiles are public projects and private projects the current user is member of. But if you're admin, you should also see other private projects even if you're not member of them. I'm working on it.

journals

Fixed in r3935. Let me know if something should be done to highlight projects which current user is member of, I personally don't think it's necessary.

Merged to 1.0-stable for release in 1.0.1.
