説明

I am looking for a very basic feature expanding on the built-in "log time" functionality. We currently use time tracking, but often a manager will need to track hours for some employees or one person will need to log hours for multiple people who are present in a meeting.

- The feature would simply add a 'multi-select' user drop down into the existing "Log Time" page
- When selecting multiple users, the number of hours tracked for each user would simply be the value in the 'hours' field.
- For example (a 1 hour meeting between myself and our graphic designer):

I click "Log Time"

From the user dropdown/multi-select, I select both myself and our designer

I enter "1" in the Hours field

Submit

Now two time entries are entered, 1 hour for myself, and 1 hour for our graphic designer

- One optional additional piece of functionality (not entirely necessary) would be to limit this functionality to a certain privilege or group. For example, only admins or managers could see the users field on the log time page

+1: Very much needed functionality in cases of absences, too.

+1 Very usefull!

+1

This feature would help a lot.

+1 definitely would be a welcomed feature

+1 would be very usefull!

We need this functionality too :)

I've added a new patch to #3848 which adds the possibility to log time for another user. I'm assigning this ticket to me because I want to work on this feature in the near future (based on that patch).

+1 Very usefull!
