説明

whenever I raked something(like, rake db:migrate), I got this warning:

rake/rdoctask is deprecated. Use rdoc/task instead (in RDoc 2.4.2+) WARNING: 'task :t, arg, :needs => [deps]' is deprecated. Please use 'task :t, [ args] => [deps]' instead.
at D:/RubyOnRails/projects/redmine/lib/tasks/email.rake:170

it's a minor problem for now, just to report it.

my versions:

```
ruby 1.8.7 (2011-02-18 patchlevel 334) [i386-mingw32]
```

```

journals

Not a redmine issue, just a rake/RoR compatibility warning.

It's more than a compatibility warning I think, some rake tasks don't work for me with rake 0.9.2. I recommend sticking with rake 0.8.7 for now.

If you have both versions installed, you can run `@rake 0.8.7 db:migrate@`.

Actually the syntax is supported at least since Rake 0.8.3, so we could remove this warning.

Sorry, I was referring to the `??WARNING??` part.

RDoc deprecation fixed.

Backed out r7541 with r7542 since the build failed, needs some new commit after build environment update.

Fix applied with a more friendly way to deal with a missing rdoc gem, considering that 99.9% of users just rake db:migrate and do not need it.
