説明
If you want to display a specific text instead of the URL, you can use the standard textile syntax: "Redmine web site":http://www.redmine.org It would be great if this was possible with the internal Redmine links. Example: "main.c":source:trunk/main.c

I really agree, this is something that I miss and that I often think about when I'm writing down a source reference, for example.
This is really important for me also as i like to have links in wiki to repository. This is more or less essential as the repository reflects the core of knowledge created, which of course is internal. +1. Yes, this would be very valuable. +1 +1 +1 This would be amazing to have.
If implemented it should also work for project description, please. This ticket seems to be related to issue:#4052.
