説明

In "my account" I can choose to reverse the order in which the notes are projected.
When I link to a note using #-1 (linking the first note) then change the order, my link still points to Note-1 rather than note-X.

Since different users may use different account settings, confusion can arise when wrong notes are linked.

I did a dirty fix in _history.html.erb for now:

<% reply_links = issue.notes_addable? -%>
<% for journal in journals %>

 <% if User.current.wants_comments_in_reverse_order? %>
 <% fix_index = journals.count - journal.indice %>
 <% else %>
 <% fix_index = journal.indice %>
 <% end %>

 #<%= fix_index %>
 <%= avatar(journal.user, :size => "24") %>
 <%= authoring journal.created_on, journal.user, :label => :label_updated_time_by %>
 <%= render_private_notes_indicator(journal) %>

 <% if journal.details.any? %>

 <% details_to_strings(journal.visible_details).each do |string| %>

 • ██████████ %>
 <% end %>

 <% if Setting.thumbnails_enabled? && (thumbnail_attachments = journal_thumbnail_attachments(journal)).any? %>

 <% thumbnail_attachments.each do |attachment| %>

 <%= thumbnail_tag(attachment) %>

 <% end %>

 <% end %>

 <% end %>

<pre><% end %></pre>
<pre><% end %> <% end %> <%= render_notes(issue, journal, :reply_links => reply_links) unless journal.notes.blank? %></pre>
<pre><%= call_hook(:view_issues_history_journal_bottom, { :journal => journal }) %> <% end %></pre>
<pre><% heads_for_wiki_formatter if User.current.allowed_to?(:edit_issue_notes, issue.project) User.current.allowed_to?(:edit_own_issue_notes, issue.project) %></pre>
