説明

The normal download location for releases <https://www.redmine.org/releases/> does not have the files for the two new releases for this week. Instead, they appear to have been attached to the Download wiki page.

This breaks our automated download in our Dockerfile. Any chance the files can be uploaded to the normal location.

journals

As described in "the news":<https://www.redmine.org/news/134>, tarballs have not been uploaded to <https://www.redmine.org/releases/> yet due to a technical issue. The tarballs will be uploaded to the usual location as soon as the problem is resolved. Sorry for the inconvenience.

Thanks for the update. I checked the forum and used the search for releases but didn't check the news. Sorry about that.

Don't worry! I will let you know once we upload the tar balls in the normal location.

The releases are now available in the "releases":<https://www.redmine.org/releases/> page and the [[Download]] page was updated to point to them. Sorry for the inconvenience.
